ART SHOULD NOT BE
ABOUT THE ARTIST.

IT SHOULD BE ABOUT
THE ART ITSELF.

ARTIST BIO

WHO I AM.

Inspired by Jackson Pollock, Gerhard Richter and Sam Francis, I live and work in Düsseldorf, a medium sized city in west Germany where Gerhard Richter used to be professor for painting at the Düsseldorf Art Academy.

I did not study at this academy, nor have I been studying art at another place. I'd rather describe myself as an autodidact that found his way into the art world one day.

On top of that, you will not find many further information about me. And that is a conscious decision as I want you to focus on my art. Not me.

I know that this will limit myself from being more popular as an artist because the artworld is more about the artist today than it is about the art itself. I nevertheless hope that my art will at least reach a few people around the world.

And... You are here. So, I've already reached you.

I hope you enjoy,

malvadi

WHY I STARTED.

In May 2017 I bought land just outside of Düsseldorf, build a house and moved from a small apartment into a place with up to 6-meter-high ceiling. As you can imagine the house was pretty bare and all those white walls were crying out to be hung with art.

That time I first started to deal with art: What kind of art do I like? Which artists catch me? The first art piece I bought was called “A Brightness” by London artist Harriet Hoult. It was an art print with an edition of 250 pieces. I still have it today. I loved the colours and the balance it had. But I didn't like the fact that it was “just” a print. A copy. Without structures and shadows. The artwork did not change with the time of the day. It was just flat.

I decided to look for original paintings. As my budget was limited at that time I was looking for still unknown artists. Maybe someone that is still studying at an art academy? I spend hours searching the internet and visited several art exhibitions, like the one from the art academy in Düsseldorf. But either I didn't like what I saw or the paintings were already in the high ten thousands.

So, I decided to buy some paint and started to experiment with it in a nutshell.

After having finished and placed the first artworks in the house some friends wanted to get one of my artworks for their house as well. The first “sales” didn't even cover the material costs but I was happy to see my art in their homes.

It did not take long before friends of friends started to contact me and bought some of my artworks and after having posted some of the artworks in social media it all began to become bigger than I ever thought it would.

But I loved it.

Harriet Hoult

WHAT I DO.

I love painting because it makes me not think and plan too much. When I am in my atelier (which was one of the rooms in my house when I started) I am on a freed journey to find a perfect balance of colours, structures, lights and shadows.

I work with several acrylic layers on top of each other, which give the artworks a high color diversity and strong haptics. Depending on the incidence of light, this creates different shadows that give the artwork a new way of expressing itself over and over again.

Every single artwork is unique and not available as prints (so far).

WHERE TO FIND MY ART.

I started painting in 2019 with almost all art exhibitions, galleries and events being closed due to COVID-19. Most of my artworks you will therefore only find online or in virtual settings.

One exception is Sublime Stages (see next page), a newly opened showroom in Kitzbühel, Austria, where my art is / was exhibited from July 2021 until January 2022.

For 2022 updates please visit my website or feel free to send me an email.

SCHOOL GARDENS IN BURUNDI

WHY BURUNDI.

Most families in Burundi make a living from agriculture, but land that can be used for agriculture and forestry is scarce. Also there is also a lack of resources and knowledge to increase their meager income. Therefore more than half of Burundi's 11 million people suffer from malnutrition.

Children especially suffer from this situation. Undernourishment and malnutrition cause stunted growth and have a direct impact on school enrollment. If the children get little or nothing to eat at home, they avoid the strenuous journey to school. However, if there is food at school, this helps children from needy families in particular to attend school.

OUR HELP.

We funded 25 gardens for schools with >24.000 children that will be build in 2022 contributing to more than >5.000.000 meals per year from then on.

25

KINDER- & JUGENDHOSPIZ REGENBOGENLAND

WHY REGENBOGENLAND.

Children, adolescents and young adults suffering from a life-shortening illness are admitted to the hospice. Relatives are also very welcome to stay here.

The hospice accompanies families not only in the last phase of their child's life, but throughout the entire phase of their illness.

OUR HELP.

We supported the team with diverse items that they had on their internal wish list to better help the children on their heavy path. On top we founded the 2021/22 new years dinner for all team members, patients and their families.
